Dogs are wonderful companions. We have seldom been without one. When the dog was with us at Marsh Ridge we obeyed all the rules, as do most everybody in the development.

An unleashed free-roaming dog behind an electrical "hidden fence" is not supervised, only confined. One that barks loudly and consistently at any vehicle, leashed animal or walking person is not supervised in accordance with the Marsh Ridge regulations, or the city of Delano ordinances. It is certainly not very considerate nor neighborly.

Dogs that are unsupervised or not under their owners direct control and bark at most anything or person at all hours of the day or night is not fair to the dog or the neighbors.

Perhaps a formal complaint is in order.

Thanks for listening (we have to)
